MEDICINAL.

M. U. McClelland, Esq., Merchant, Gravelly, Ark., writes: "My wife (Mrs. L. J. McClelland) was confined to bed for some time with indigestion and female trouble. Was unable at times to walk across the room. We tried two or three doctors as I thought could be found in our part of the country. Neither of them did her any good. Afterward I decided to write to Dr. Pierce for advice. I thought it not wise as I was sure she would be buried before she could receive an answer, but she commenced on your remedies and I could see that she was some better by the time she had taken the third bottle. We continued the use of the medicine until a white and now she does all the housework, and stood the examination for life insurance all O. K. Any one who so wishes may write to me at my place of abode."

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health, by curing the local womanly diseases which are generally responsible for the failure of the general health. A woman's entire being is centered in her womanly nature. When the delicate womanly organism is attacked by disease; when there is irregularity or a disagreeable drain; when inflammation burns and ulcers gnaw the general health will reflect the progress of disease, in increasing weakness, nervousness, backache, headache, loss of appetite and sleeplessness.

So sure it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhoea, Female weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the stomach, liver and bowels.

BRUTAL ASSAULT.

While on her way home from school in Hagerstown, Md., yesterday evening, Miss Ino Stotler, the 16-year-old daughter of John Stotler, keeper of the toll-gate on the C&O pike, one mile from Hagerstown, was brutally assaulted by an unknown white man. After assaulting the girl the man fled, and up to a late hour last night the authorities had not been able to obtain any clue to his identity or whereabouts.

Miss Stotler is a member of the B class of the Washington County Female High School, and was walking home along the pike when the crime was committed. She was within an eighth of a mile of her home when a strange man, whom she had passed a few minutes before, approached her from the rear and proposed walking home with her. She resented the intrusion. Grabbing her, the man attempted to draw her to the side of the pike.

Miss Stotler screamed, and the man warned her that if she made any further outcry he would kill her. Miss Stotler screamed a second time and the man then stifled her cries by forcing a large handkerchief into her mouth.

The helpless girl was then dragged to a point along the fence where the assault was committed, the girl being subjected to treatment of a most horrifying nature. Immediately after the commission of the crime the man started to leave Hagerstown. The girl recovered from her semi-conscious state in time to see him disappearing over the hill.

In an exhausted and highly nervous state the girl managed to reach her home, where she told her parents of her awful experience. The authorities in Hagerstown were notified and in less than an hour the country for miles around was being scoured by officers and others in search of the man. The people are very much aroused, and if the guilty party is caught he may be lynched.

A five-year-old son of George Gordon, who owns the farm along the pike where the assault was committed, witnessed the crime from a distance. The little fellow was in a field driving cows, and when he reached home he told his mother that a man was killing a girl along the pike. No attention was paid to his remark at the time.

GALE ON FLORIDA COAST.

After blowing a gale Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the storm predicted for south Florida broke over Miami, Sunday, about midnight. In a few hours Miami and most of the towns on the east coast of Florida were cut off from communication with the outside world. Telegraph wires were blown down and the railroad tracks were obstructed and not until yesterday was communication restored. The wind attained a maximum velocity of 75 miles per hour in Miami. The chief damage on land was done by the rain. A few roofs were damaged. In the surrounding country the fruit and vegetable crops were damaged to a considerable extent. Several craft along the bay front were capsized and swamped. At Buena Vista the residence of J. G. Truitt was blown from its foundation and several others were twisted and strained. The prevailing damage to fruit and vegetation is reported. No report has been received from Cutler and the Homestead sections, where it is feared the most damage has been done to fruit and vegetables.

The schooner Melrose, with a crew of eight and four passengers, was wrecked Saturday. Just before sunset a great wave swept over the vessel, capsizing it and throwing the passengers and crew into the sea. Mrs. Hallen, one of the passengers, was lost, but the crew managed to cling to the sides of the vessel, and Mr. and Mrs. Weller, two other passengers, found themselves in the water within reach of the schooner's fore boom. When the ship righted herself the two were still clinging to the rigging. The mast, however, fell and crushed Mrs. Weller. Her lifeless body was washed overboard, while Mr. Weller had both bones of his right arm broken. The schooner drifted until Monday, when all were washed overboard. Mr. Weller grasped a hatch and floated ashore landing near Palm Beach, as did the captain, mate and two colored seamen. One white man and four negroes were drowned. A number of other disasters are reported.

Driven Frantic by Grief.

Becoming suddenly insane yesterday in the brass-finish shop of Staats & Dillmeier, in Williamsburg, N. Y., Patrick Harrigan, a widower 60 years old, after trying with a razor to wound his fellow-employees and terrorizing everybody in the building, cut his throat. Notwithstanding the fact that his injuries were fatal he fought a policeman like a tiger and cut the policeman's left hand. Harrigan's wife died a year ago and it is said that he never recovered from the blow. He kept house with his 16-year-old son. Sometime ago he lost a job in a brass-finish plant through a strike and he had since hung around Staats & Dillmeier's shop in an effort to get employment. William Dillmeier, a member of the firm, took pity on the man and Tuesday afternoon gave him a job as brass molder. Harrigan's mind did not appear to be on his work, but Dillmeier said nothing to him. At 7 o'clock yes-
